

Infectious Diseases Research Day / CCfV Annual Symposium April 23, 24 2012

Sponsored by Canadian Center for Vaccinology and the Dalhousie Divisions of Infectious Diseases of the Departments of Pediatrics and Medicine and the
Dalhousie Infectious Diseases Research Alliance

Educationally co-sponsored by Dalhousie University Continuing Medical Education

Monday afternoon April 23

1:00 – 2:00	Presentation – Mark Steinhoff M.D. Maternal Immunization: a 3-for-1 strategy	IWK Health Centre O.E. Smith auditorium
2:00 – 2:30	Presentation – Chris Richardson Ph.D. Measles Virus: a potential therapeutic cancer vaccine?
2:30 – 3:00	Presentation – Matthew Herder L.L.B. Intellectual property obstacles to diversifying influenza vaccine manufacturing capacity
3:00 – 4:30	Poster judging (posters on display 1:00 – 5:30)	IWK Health Centre Gallery
4:30 – 5:30	Public presentation – Robbin Lindsay Ph.D. Ticks and tick-borne diseases in Nova Scotia	IWK Health Centre O.E. Smith auditorium
6:30 – 8:30	Dinner and presentation by Mark Steinhoff M.D. Vaccine trials and serendipity	VG Hospital Dickson Bldg Weather Watch Rm

Tuesday morning April 24

8:00 – 9:00	TJ Marrie Lecture (Grand Rounds) - Robbin Lindsay Ph.D. Challenges associated with detection, prevention and control of Lyme disease in Canada	Halifax Infirmary RB Theatre
9:30 – 12:30	Oral Presentations (10 presentations by authors)	VG Hospital Dickson Bldg Weather Watch Rm
12:30 – 2:30	Buffet lunch and presentation by Pauline Dakin, CBC Health/Medical Reporter Ready for Primetime: interpreting research for the public	VG Hospital Dickson Bldg Weather Watch Rm